

Chris Lubbe

Chris Lubbe is an amazing man. What he did to get equality is inspirational. It felt horrible the way how he had to run away from his family for ten years to escape getting killed. Chris taught me that white people didn't look at black people the same as they looked at white people. I felt disgusted the way how they decided if a person was white, coloured or black. I realised that some people take taps for granted because Chris used to dream about having a tap.
