

Chris Lubbe

On Friday 16th June, Chris Lubbe came in and spoke to all of the year 6's and 5's. Chris Lubbe was Nelson Mandela's body guard.

He lived a very hard childhood in South Africa, where there were differences in equality between white people and black, coloured and Asian people. White people were treated with respect whereas black, coloured or Asian people were not.

I think that if Chris Lubbe and Nelson Mandela didn't try to change the Law there would still be inequality in some countries where black people were treated like slaves and where they were only allowed a particular job; which is all racial discrimination.
