

Chris Lubbe.

Chris Lubbe's talk was very inspirational. He was Nelson Mandela's body guard. I would follow his advice that leaders are readers and readers are leaders. Chris Lubbe was an amazing person, he fought for equality for everyone. I felt disgusted at the way non-whites were treated. I felt horrible that he had to run away from his family for 10 years to stop himself getting killed. Chris taught me that it's better to speak out rather to stand by.
